"Behold He that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor

- Amid the silence of the night,
- Amid its lonely hours and dreary, When we close the aching sight,
- Musing sadly, lorn and weary, Trusting that to-morrow's light May reveal a day more cheery;
- Amid affliction's darkest hour,
- When no hope beguiles our sadness, When Death's hurtling tempests lower,
- And forever shrouds our gladness, While Grief's unrelenting power
- Gonds our stricken hearts to madness; When from friends below'd we're parted,
- And from scenes our spirits love, And are driven, broken-hearted,
- O'er a heartless world to rove; When the wors by which we've smarted,
- Vainly seek to melt or move;
- When we trust and are deluded, When we love and are denied, When the schemes o'er which we broaded, Burst like mist on mountain's side,
- And from every hope excluded We in dark despuir abide; Then, and ever, God sustains us,
- He whose eye no slamber knows, Who controls each throb that pains us, And in nearly sends our wors, And by fore severe constrains us To avoid eternal throca.
- Happy he whose heart obers Him : Lest and rained, who dissers ! Oh! if idots e'er displace Him, Tear them from His chosen throne, May our lives and language praise Hins,

May our hearts he His alone! VARIETY.

Why does a person who is poorly, lose much of his sense of touch? Because he dosen't feel well. "Good blood will always show itself," as the old lady said when she was struck by the redness of her nose. Almost every young lady is public-spirited enough to have her father's house used as a court It is a great convenience for a doctor to have two patients in the same street, so he can kill two birds with one stone.

that his wife had lost her temper, said he was "glad of it, for it was a very bad one." The credit system has been carried to a pretty fine point in some districts, if we may judge from the following dialogue, said to have recently occurred between a customer and the proprietor : " Haow's trade, square?" " Wall, cash trade's kinder dull naow, major." " Dun anything ter day?"

" Wall, only a lectle-on credit. Aunt Betsey Pushard has had an egg's worth of tea, and got trusted for it 'till her speckled pullet lays." At a wedding, after the clergyman had united the happy pair, an awful silence ensued; which becoming rather irksome to a young gentleman, he cried out, " You need not be so unspeakably happy.' Two young ladies holding converse over the virtues of a new dress. " And does it fit well?"

and poured in ! " A gentleman who had built a small house in a sequestered part of his grounds for his private study showed it to a friend, remarking, "Here I sit reading from morning till night and nobody a bit the wiser." " Isn't there a strong smell of pigs?" said a yatchtsman at Ryde to a brother yatchtsman named Smith, "Yes," replied Smith, "that's because the wind is sow-west."

Some idea of the Chicago gas light may be gathered from the fact of the boy who puts them out in the morning carrying a lighted lantern with him. On being questioned as to the reason, he replied that he "couldn't find the durned gas posts without it."

"Sally Mander safe!" said Mrs. Partington as her eyes fell on an advertisement, " Do tell me, Isaac, who this Sally Mander is, and what she's been doing that they've got her safe?" "I don't know what she's been doing," said Ike, "but I guess she is a sister to Jerry." "Jerry who, Isaac?" "Why, Jerry Mander," said Ike, as he resumed his work by the window, entehing flies and impaling them.

To CLEAN SILK .- Every housewife has some specific for taking stains or blemishes, spots of grease or paint, from woven goods; but all thus far are objectionable, if not from injuring the cloth, at least from their bad odor. Of late years, however, there has been extensively used a France and over the continent a preparation invented by Ungerer, which is in every respect perfect. This is Etheroline, a pure colorles fluid, which removes every blemish from the most delicate silks, cloth, velvets, satins, linen or cotton, and which is as invaluable for kid gloves, felt lats or oil paintings. It is prompt in its action, certain and without offensive smell.

WHAT REM WILL DO .- Some years ago, in one of the counties of New York, a worthy man was decoved into a licensed tayern, and tempted to drink until he was drunk. In the delirium of drunkenness, he went home and murdered his wife in the most barbarous manner. He was carried to the jail while drunk, and kept through the night. Awakening in the morning and looking around upon the walls and seeing the bars upon the window, he exclaimed ;

"Yes, you are in a jail," answered some one. "What am I here for?" was the carnest in-

" For murder," was the answer. With still greater astonishment and earnestness he inquired, " Does my wife know it." "Your wife know it?" said some one, "Why, it was your wife you have killed." On this announcement he dropped suddenly, as if he had been struck dead. Let it be remembered that the constable who carried him to jail sold him the liquor which caused his drunkenness; the justice who issued the warrant was one of those who signed license, and the sheriff who hung him also sold liquor and kept a tenpin alley.

POPULAR FALLACIES.—That you can receive one dollar a day, spend two, and get rich. That the man who don't pay for his breakfast can raise the money to go into a circus.

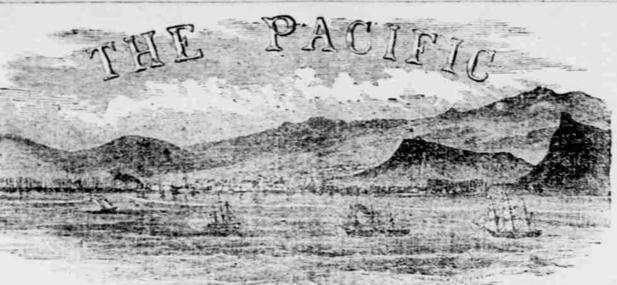

That to do a man one favor, and then refuse him another, won't make him twice as mad as if you had refused him the first. That when a friend presents you a hound it will cost you nothing. That when you buy on credit, knowing very well you will not pay, it is not stealing. That next year's taxes will be lighter.

That every other man is to die except you. That if you have a good cause in love, war, or law, patch in, you are bound to win. That you can play draw poker and lose just so much and no more. That there is one way known only to yourself, to break a faro bank.

That when you buy a horese he will be certain to turn out as represented. That if you always say what you think, you will win the regard of the entire community.

The heated term of 1868, appears to be one of unusual severity in the Eastern States. From Central and Eastern New York and Canada, accounts reach us of an unprecedented mortality from sun-strokes, it being reported that during the three days preceding the 16th instant, not less than two hundred and fifty persons have died in the metropolitan district of New York from R. A New Manufacture.—The manufacture of 609 rubber heel stiffening, a new thing in boot and shoe manufacture, has recently been begun at Ship Chelsea, Massachusetts. These stiffcaings are they will not "run down." and are anoflected by

How INTEREST WILL INCREASE.—The property which Mr. Thomas Brown, lately murdered in Hampton Falls, Massachusetts, inherited from him the justly celebrated Kawaihae Potatoes, and A husband, on being told, the other evening, when he was sixteen years old, and which he sold for $100, putting the money at interest, and keeping it there, until at the time of his death, 1850, it had reached the sum of $6000.

A PRETTY IMPATION.—Epsom salts dissolved in beer, together with a small quantity of dextrine, (artificial gum.) and in this state applied to a pane of glass with a sponge or brush, will, on crystallizing, produce identical designs to those produced by frost; and a fumous German chemist has discovered a means to transfer these fairy-like creations to stuffs and paper. A Manufactory of Marine.—A process has Corner of Hotel and Numann Streets, Honolulu, H. I been discovered by which white marble can be manufactured. Machinery has been put in opertion in St. Louis which turns out marble of a texture and durability equal to the original rock. The process does not require more than a few hours to complete it, and the material can be furnished cheaper than the quarried rock can be. asked one. "Fit? Upon removing the lid covering the glass, the face of the illustrious Schator was found to be in a remarkable state of preservation -almost as natural as when buried, seven years ago. The complexion is very fair, the contour of the head and face apparently unchanged, and the expression quite natural and plainly recognizable. The hair looks black and glossy as ever, and the c. s. sezzes. raiment as new and tidy as when first put on, not presenting the first evidence of mildew or discolo-

A RUBBER CARRIAGE. -- India rubber (so-called) is fast taking rank with iron and wood as regards the many uses to which it is being put. The last novelty manufactured from this material is a carriage, just received in this city from Bridgeport, Connecticut, (famous for its notions, including, it is said, wooden nutmegs, of most excellent quality, especially as regards the wood.) This vehicle is an open buggy, weight but one hundred and twenty-five pounds, and the body is made of one piece of hard rubber, one eighth of an inch in thickness. It is without the usual carriage bolts and screws, and presents a perfectly smooth surface, which is not soiled or tarnished by rubbing or handling. The rubber is tougher than wood, and very much more elastic. The runninggear is of wood, but the next carriage made will oc entirely of rubber. The material is unaffected by wet, hot or cold weather, and was prepared at temperature of 300 degrees, the body having been first got into a plastic mass, like dough. A company has been formed, called the "Hard Rubber Wood Company," with a capital of $250,-600, and consisting of fifteen stockholders, for the purpose of carrying on the business in Bridge-

Sunday Rest Necessary, - A distinguished vsician says, without reference at all to the ological question: "Although the night equalizes the circulation well, yet is does not sufficiently restore its balance for the attainment of a long fe. Hence, one day in seven by the bounty of Providence, is thrown in as a day of compensation, to perfect by its repose the animal system. You may easily determine this question by trying it on beasts of burden. Take a horse, and put him to the full extent of his power every day in the week, or give him rest one day in seven, and you would soon perceive, by the vigor with which he performs on the other six days, that his rest is necessary to his well-being. Man, possessing a superior nature, is borne along by the vigor Importers and Wholesale Dealers in Fashlonable of his mind, so that the injury of continued diurnal exertion and excitement in his animal system is not so apparent as it in the brute, but in the long run it breaks down more suddenly; it abridges the length of his life and that vigor of his old age, which (as mere animal power) ought to be an object of his preservation.

A Business Maxim .- "That man who pays more for his rent than for his advertising does not know his business." This maxim of an experienced and successful merchant is incontrovertible. It matters less to have a fine store than that everybody should know where it is and what is in it. It is poor policy to put twenty thousand dollars in a building and then stop. One store is no better than another except so far as more customers enter it, and it is advertising which brings customers to one merchant or dealer rather than another. The time is coming, and coming thronometers rated by observations of the sun and stars with a transit instrument accurately adjusted to the penditure in earrying on any business, and it will become so because it will be the most remunerative.
